

The above and below photos are bottom types representative of the red and green areas in the hyperspectral image (next page), based upon recent ground truth estimations.

